(DETAILED-ANSWER QUESTIONS)

Note: Attempt all the questions from this section. All the questions carry equal marks. (40)

3. Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow

OR, make a precis of the passage and suggest a suitable title to it.

Today, when we pick a daily newspaper, we invariably find increasing incidences of vandalism, fraud, theft, robbery, child abuse, battered spouses, murders, hate crimes, genocide (now termed as “ethnic cleaning” along with a multitude of other senseless violent acts that have become disturbingly common. These are not the action of people who like themselves. The solution to a great many problems, whether personal, national or global, lies in improving our feelings about ourselves both as individuals and members of society. When the significance of good self-esteem is well understood and it achieves the prominence and deserves, a transformation will begin, for as a people will learn they are deserving of self-respect, their respect for other will automatically increase. Most of our behaviour has been shaped by our parents, caregivers and authority figures who played an important part in our early upbringing and were responsible for crystallizing our ideas about ourselves and the world. While everyone has self-esteem, only a small percentage of us have high self-esteem. High self-esteem denotes that we accept ourselves unconditionally exactly as we are; we appreciate our value as a human being. When, on the other hand, we have low self-esteem, we believe that we have little intrinsic worth. We try to create some and prove that we are somebody by our successes and achievements. Because our desire for perfection is so great, we tend to set unrealistic goals and place unreasonable demands on ourselves. Failing, rather than encouraging us to have more realistic aspiration, only lead to a mere punishing round or self-blame and a resolve to drive ourselves harder next time.

- The word ‘potential’ means?
- What is the importance of good self-esteem?
- What is remarkable in high self-esteem?
- Identify regular and irregular verbs.
  - become
  - lies
  - resolve
  - Have
